Currant

Thank you for adopting Currant.

She is one of the Working Dogs for Conservation at Conservation South Luangwa. The dogs play a crucial role in detecting ivory, bushmeat, guns and ammunition, lion bones and skins, leopard skins and pangolins at the national park's boundary and across Zambia's Eastern Province.

Currant was a stray dog found in a shelter in Idaho, USA. She had been hit by a car and needed surgery on her hind leg. After being identified by Working Dogs for Conservation and selected for training as a detection dog, Currant has made it to Zambia to join the CSL team.

A crazy high energy dog, she loves to work and play non-stop and happily works with anyone, although her new handler, Sidney, has been assigned to her.
